

The Swaffham Crier

Volume 28 Number 3
March 2004

Editorial

Brrrr! Not the time of year to be thinking about tennis, but the season is quickly coming upon us and Priorites will find themselves, as ever, motoring their families all over the county in order to get on a court. Swaffham Prior doesn't have a tennis court. Why not?! We have land, don't we? We don't use it, so people pile unwanted fridges on it. The Eds appreciate that the seriously sporty types have got their own Clubs and may not want to downgrade to a more informal setting, but for the rest of us, a village tennis court would be an absolute boon. Furthermore, if enough people agree, the LTA will give us money. Not to mention whatever the Sports and Social Club have got squirreled away! Get in touch with Dr Parry or the Crier if you'd like to support an application.

Congratulations, Red Lion Crib League Champs, and too (grudgingly! The Eds did not win) , to All or Nothing, the first local village quiz team to win our own local quiz competition in quite a bit. We perhaps need a strictly local little-known-obscure-facts-about-Swaffham-Prior round to ensure this happens more often.

Meanwhile, this issue of the Crier boasts a new correspondent, normally to be found on the front cover. Read Thomas Newbolt's evocative account of the recent Advent by Candlelight, and I think you'll agree that we need more where this comes from. Crier correspondents generally might like to know that BBC Radio Cambridgeshire is looking for a local SP correspondent (strictly informal and amateur) to give occasional News and Views broadcasts from the village. Don't all rush at once!

Two Crier helpers in the news this month. Our sincere commiserations go to Sheila Smith on the recent tragic loss of her brother Denis. On a happier note, congratulations to Fleur, Phil and Verity Routley family on the birth of new addition Lucas. See you Indulging, Feasting and of course Jumbling.... Caroline Matheson

Letters to the Editors

Dear Editors,

Motorbikes and air rifles

The extremely loud motorbike has been back in the field between Rogers Road and Fairview Grove. It has been belting up and down along the backs of gardens and the noise is terrifying if you live nearby. There are two small boys with an air rifle who have been firing up into the trees with the houses behind. This is frightening and dangerous.

Can the parents of these young people please ask them to stop.

Easter Lilies

Each year we have had lilies in St Mary's Church at Easter time and, recently, many people have contributed to these in memory of a loved one.

Donations can be made anonymously or with your name and the name of your loved one. A list will then be compiled and placed in church for Easter Sunday. As a guide the Easter lilies cost £2.50 per stem last year. All contributions will be very welcome and will enable us to have a beautiful display.

If you would like to make a donation please put it through Sue Rust's door at 23 Greenhead Road or Ruth Scovil's door at The Oaks, Manor Farm Court, Lower End (the letterbox is in the door at the back of the house!). Please include the name of your loved one and your own unless, of course, you wish to make your gift anonymously.

From our Reporter at the Parish Council Meeting

Before the meeting started, I took a long hard look at the members of the PC, and the clerk, and thought “This lot will never get the Gay Bulleid Award.” And why? Simply because it requires some completely different terms of reference to acknowledge many of those in the village who work for the public good without being “good”. What I am saying is that the GB Award has an aura of “goodness” about it, which is beyond many who are active in other ways. This is not a criticism of the GB award. I once, personally, all by myself, collected the Award from the WI President and therefore can fully appreciate the great pride, and also the enormous humility, felt by those to whom it is awarded.

But what about the others I ask? For example the School, the Parish Council, the Youth Club, the Red Lion, the Village Hall, the Crier, Drama (is the Baroness at the back awake and LISTENING?!!!), Art, Music, Toddlers Group, Cubs, Church, Chapel and many others. I will be suggesting to the PC that the possibility of a New Award should appear on the agenda of the next Annual Village Assembly. It would require a name other than GB and the worthies after whom it could be named are legion. For starters - ED, HH, KW, MM, JN, AC, HS, JB, FD, SP — any of these may do. There are always very good reasons why people do not attend the Annual Village Assembly. Perhaps in this case some will give this some thought and come up with suggestions.

So, what was so wonderful about the last PC meeting? It displayed at its best the conscientious attention to local concerns and welfare not only by our PC but also by our CCC and ECDC representatives. The meeting had a good start with Steve Lang filling the long-time vacancy on the PC. The whole village should give a big hooray for this.

James Fitch began the serious stuff by regretting he was still unable to report on the CCC budget. He said “The Government speaks with two voices” as “ministers fight against each other” and that the county still has no clear idea what the Government insists it does or how much money will be provided and in any case there was likely to be a cap. I did not follow all the detail and James may be reporting more fully in his piece. But no matter what your politics may be the complexity of forming a budget against such interference and uncertainty from central government was amply illustrated. As the sporting term goes “they appear to be on a hiding to nothing.”

Then Charlotte spoke. While the CCC problems and decisions may be too large for all to grasp this is not the case with ECDC. Charlotte outlined a proposed decision by ECDC which on the surface appeared foolhardy and in ten or twenty years time absolutely disastrous for ECDC rate payers. There is obviously a great conflict in The Grange and the more we know about it the better. ECDC has long served us well and we must try to ensure this continues. Charlotte was unhappy about two things. Firstly the decision that there should be 0% increase in ECDC rates. She understood many people will cheer about this, but thought it foolhardy and that ECDC should learn from the dilemma in which CCC now finds itself. Because CCC in the past did not increase the rates as they ought they are now in an impossible position. She foresaw that in a few years time ECDC will be in the same position. Because, while ECDC has a balanced budget for 2004/05, there is a forecast shortfall for 2005/06. By 2006/07 the shortfall is forecast to be about £500,000!! What a future to look forward to. This shortfall would have to be met from efficiency savings, increased government grant (Ha. Ha.), a cut in services, or from the ratepayer — unless any excessive rate increase is capped — in which case services would have to be cut.

The second ECDC decision which appeared to fire up Charlotte was the decision to demolish The Grange, turn it into a 220 space short stay car park (earning an estimated £130,000 per annum), and to move the offices to an industrial estate outside Witchford on a twenty year lease with a starting rent of £430,000 per annum (plus service charges and repair costs). The council will also rent land on this site at £2,500 a year (plus service charges) for possible use as a Park and Ride site. Both rents are reviewed every five years and can only go up.

At present The Grange is rent free though there are annual costs of running it and the place does require some urgent repairs and refurbishment. Meanwhile a traffic and transport feasibility study is being conducted but “THEY” refuse to delay any decision on The Grange until the Study is completed even though a 220 short stay car park may not be wanted, or a Park and Ride site at that location. Admittedly Charlotte was presenting her case but she maintained that the figures did not stack up and that in ten or fifteen years and thereafter her constituents would suffer badly. She reckoned that just to pay the rent would add about 14% to the rates. Charlotte wanted the decision to be referred to the Full Council but “THEY” refused. Sets of figures are available but Charlotte warned that these appear convincing only on the surface and include the money from the sale of another piece of land in Ely which could be kept or sold whether the Grange was demolished or not. “Just like selling the family silver” came a voice from the back. The PC was quite shocked and wanted to know who “THEY” were. “THEY” are the Policy and Resources Committee which has nine members: 4 Lib Dems (including Charlotte), 4 Conservatives and one Independent.

What Charlotte fears is that the project will have gone so far by the time it reaches the Full Council for final approval that outside bodies will demand and possibly need to be paid huge compensation if the scheme is withdrawn. It could be that dreadful predicament - is it cheaper to go-ahead rather than cancel? This is why Charlotte was anxious for a wider discussion of the idea before it goes too far. She urged Parish Councillors to raise it at the next Parish Forum (a regular meeting between representatives of parish councils, and officers and members of ECDC) and to look at the figures very carefully. Someone said it sounded like “a business plan which any business person would have thrown out”.

Some years ago the structure and organisation of ECDC was changed. We were all asked to vote on three possible options (as far as I remember) but few possibly understood what the difference might be. Is this the result of the reorganisation? Can any committee commit ECDC to a huge radical change before the Full Council is consulted? Could this have happened before the restructuring? I hope the Grange issue will be on the agenda of our next Annual Village Assembly.

Then on to FOOTPATHS — a subject one might have thought rather innocuous at best and very boring at worst. But not a bit of it. It started with the question whether there is vehicular access along Coopers Lane because the horse owner needs access to the field and Mr Lewis needs access for oil delivery. Appropriately enough it was referred to Mr John Cooper of the CCC Countryside Services Team who has reported that Coopers Lane is “Footpath No 12” on which vehicular access cannot be granted. Mr Lewis wanted to know when the barriers at the other end of Coopers Lane were erected and will be pursuing this further. There was only one half remembered story about the barriers, Karen will look through the minutes, but I think a brief talk to John Norris will provide the whole story. Meanwhile I could not help thinking this is a very local problem, which, with a little understanding and compromise, could be resolved without involving CCC.

Of course this is not high drama, unlike the next footpath issue. This was truly amazing and something you only expected to read in the newspaper about some awful behaviour in some other village. But here it is, here, now, in our village, and it appears to have been going on since 1995. There is a lane off Mill Hill and addressed as Mill Hill which goes up to and past the old Smock Mill (the one which does not work). At the end, past the Mill, there are plots of land the owners of which have always had unlimited access since the Enclosure Award of 1814, and this, including vehicular access, has been confirmed by other documents. Mr T. Nightingale who owns the Smock Mill disputes this and has been hampering and preventing access ever since 1995. Documents were circulated at the meeting which alleged and recorded totally unacceptable threatening and frightening behaviour. Walter Bradley had been the main recipient of the aggression but there are others who have experienced similar difficulties, the latest of which is Mrs Brownsdon, daughter of Fred Day. She had driven to check her father’s plot of land and had been blocked in, abused and threatened by Mr Nightingale who claimed she had no right to be there. She called the police but Mr Nightingale persuaded them that he and not Mrs Brownsdon was in the right. “Ah!, so he’s got a slippery (or was it silvery) tongue as well” said one councillor. Charlotte Cane was annoyed that the police had not kept any record of another occasion when they had been called for the same reason. Though agreeing that “The bloke was out of order” and wondering “What’s he got to hide” the PC thought that an affray of this nature was not anything over which they had any control. But both PC and ECDC agreed it was deplorable behaviour, reflected very badly on the community, and that once a couple of points have been established both would write to Mr Nightingale and to the Police stating the facts. This may not achieve anything because Mr Nightingale has never replied to a number of solicitors’ letters sent to him over the years. The fact appears to be that it is not a public right of way but there is access, including vehicular, for all landowners and their representatives.

There was much else but from now on I must just cherry pick. It was announced that the Sports and Recreation Club had had a meeting (a huge cheer with a large dose of irony went up from PC) and that they were contributing about £700 to the new play equipment though no mention was made of any willingness to change into shorts and run around the recreation ground. The PC was not too fussed about this because of the danger from mole hills. Various quotes were considered and in the end traps were considered the best remedy. Sadly there was no guarantee the moles will not return. Karen had forgotten to print out a list of all the incoming correspondence so, with a big grin, she said they would have to listen to her going through it all - in detail. One of the bills to be settled was the half yearly bill (£44.15) for the cemetery water. This was fortunately covered by the £40 contribution from the horse owner and the £25 from two allotment holders. If the PC worked on this, the cemetery water could become a nice little earner.

In 'Any Other Business' a member raised a complaint about the holes in the Village Hall driveway. "What holes?" asked the Chairman. "The holes along the driveway". Trevor explained that they were not holes but "necessary traffic calming measures" because a number of mothers had complained how fast many cars are driven down the drive. Uncomfortable though the holes may be, no reasonable person can possibly complain about what must be the cheapest traffic calming measure ever introduced in the village.

PS. An ECDC Parish Forum (described above) was held soon after the February PC Meeting and from an impeccable source I have been informed that the Chairman of the Forum refused to allow any discussion of 'The Grange'. So there you have it.

"Lies, Damned Lies, and Statistics"

Like many others I joined the 'Big Garden Birdwatch' on 24 and 25 January. All it needed was one hour on either day counting the birds in the garden. I chose a beautiful afternoon, fiddled around with the odd plant, and counted from 2.30 to 3.30pm. The result was disappointing. All I got were 2 Woodpigeons, 2 Jackdaws, and one Collared Dove. What a dilemma. I knew this to be truthful research but I also knew there were usually more birds. If I sent in my true report would the figures be distorted? Would my true intelligence result in some falsification of the results? Would anyone quoting my figures be called a liar?

And what about the houses with Bird Tables? Do not figures taken from the artificial bird table locations distort the results just as much as mine taken in natural surroundings? In the end I decided to withhold my results. It all made me wonder whether anyone can be absolutely sure they know the truth?

Advent by Candlelight

So we gathered at Advent to enjoy a sequence of largely unfamiliar choral music and appropriate readings (wise and humorous). Both music and readings may follow a theme. Ian de Massini and Cambridge Voices bring a scholastic flavour to these dark afternoon gatherings. The singers emphasize the clear, dramatic presentation of the music and words — none of that velvety ecclesiastical chanting on the sound system at Vézelay. They are singing for us and on our behalf:

*O Emmanuel, our King and law-giver,
That long-expected Saviour of the world;
Come and save us, Lord and Master. Amen.*

The programme offers a jostling of concepts: serenity with silliness, the sacred with the ironic. This is something we all secretly want. The contrasts are entertaining, the last word of a reading bringing attention to the first words of a hymn. An hour and a half of serious music and sacred texts might make some uneasy; others might be driven away by the prospect of an unrelenting approach to the liturgy.

Having paid the £6 admission (no collection this year) overcoats, hats, car-keys and programmes organise themselves gradually to a silence or a low rustling. Ian has decreed a meditative prelude (no chatter-hiding organ voluntary) so we keep the whispered greetings to a minimum and concentrate instead on who is sitting where, with whom, or on this novel experience of filling these churches to capacity in the way they used to be filled.

Hilary Sage starts the proceedings with a reading which immediately reminds us that adults and children can be addressed equally, and even before the music starts, we sense the acoustic space, and growing accustomed to the candlelight, settle down. In this hesitating light which vibrates from dark corners of the church we feel the edges of things blurring. It is as if only in this way the music and words can penetrate, that in this darker place the meaning can hover. We don't understand fully what this music means or the words — especially Edwin Muir or St Paul — but we may catch the rhythm, a sonority, the rhyme or a phrase. Living between dark and light we become conduits, briefly, for excellence, humour and perhaps understanding.

ADVANCE NOTICE OF CONCERTS OVER THE EASTER PERIOD

Over the Easter long-weekend this year, Cambridge Voices and Ian de Massini will, once again, present a series of concerts in and around Cambridge, including in their list of chosen venues the unique setting of St Cyriac & St Julitta's, Swaffham Prior. Brief details are printed below: more information will be included in next month's magazine.

GOOD FRIDAY, APRIL 9th @ 4.00pm

Cambridge Voices present their annual "Music for Holy Week" concert here in Swaffham Prior, which has proved highly successful since its inception, some ten years ago. This year, the choir has been asked to present Stainer's "Crucifixion", a wonderfully evocative setting of the Passion narrative that even includes audience participation in the glorious Passiontide hymns. In the first half of the concert, the choir will perform the famous "Miserere mei" by Allegri, beside haunting masterpieces from Domenico Scarlatti, Sir John Tavener and Josquin des Pres. Admission will be by programme: £6 per person at the door (no concessions).

HOLY SATURDAY / EASTER EVE, APRIL 10th @ 4.00pm:

Ian de Massini, Director of Cambridge Voices, will perform the first 12 of the 24 Preludes and Fugues that make up Bach's "Well-tempered Clavier" Book 1, on piano. These astonishingly varied works were a deliberate statement, on the composer's part, to show the tremendous advancements he had made in keyboard virtuosity and his breathtaking harmonic awareness and, now, this collection has come to be regarded as The Old Testament of the piano repertoire. Please note that the final 12 Preludes and Fugues will be performed by Ian, the following day (Easter Day April 11th), in St Columba's, Downing Street, Cambridge @ 7.00pm. Admission will be by programme, at the door: £6 per person per concert, or £10 per person for the two concerts.

EASTER BANK HOLIDAY MONDAY, APRIL 12th @ 4.00pm:

To bring the Easter festivities to a close, Cambridge Voices and Ian de Massini combine forces with The Orchestra of the Age of Reason and virtuoso recorder-player Michael Copley (formerly of The Academy of Ancient Music and The Cambridge Buskers) to present a concert-performance of Handel's delightfully tuneful pastoral entertainment "Acis and Galatea". For this work, Handel has provided some of his most sensual music for two flutes, two oboes, orchestra, soloists and chorus. The concert venue will be The Townley Memorial Hall in Fulbourn. Tickets at the door: £10 (£3 for under-16s, students and job-seekers).

For more information please contact Ian de Massini (Tel. 0780 1234 343; Email iandemassini@argonet.co.uk)

We congratulate Hilary Sage, the winner of last month's crossword competition, who should collect her prize certificate from the editors. Honorable mentions go to Shirley Wilkins and the Noyes, Nunn, Clark, Carrington and Matheson families. Chris Carrington, winner of January's competition, would like it to be known that her famous victory would not have been possible without a great deal of help from her family.

Below is a report on Class 4's recent geography trip to Upware. They day was fine and much enjoyed by all who went.

Joanna Lakey

Class 4 go to Upware to study Rivers

On Wednesday 11th February we arrived at school at normal time and travelled to Upware in either Mrs Hill's car, Mr Pumfrey's car, Mrs Noyes' car, Mrs Wade-Gledhill's car, Mrs Richard's car or Mrs Pettersson's car. I went in Mr Pumfrey's car with Natasha, Thomas and Keiren. It took about 10 minutes. We arrived at Upware around 9:30 and went straight into the building that used to be the village school. We hung our coats up and went into the little classroom. We went there because in our Geography we are learning about Rivers and The Fens rivers in particular.

In the little classroom we looked at some pictures that the lady (who was teaching us called Jane) had put it into a slide show and we had to name the parts of a river that she showed us. We had to listen for a very long time and then we separated into two groups. She told us how they drained the Fens with a clay model of it. One group had a map (as large as the table) of the Fens that they had to place some names of places and things and had to place them on the map. After that they had to mark it on their own map and if they finished that then there was about five trays of sand and we had to make a river and put all the contents of a river in it. While one group was doing that activity the other group was doing an experiment with sand. There was a little slide that had a layer of sand on and she made a line down the middle with another line leading down to it. Then we had to place a stone and a miniature house somewhere on the slide. We had to draw what it looked like then. Next she poured a little bit of water down the line and we had to draw what it looked like then and had to answer some questions about what happened. Lastly she poured a jug full of water into it and quite a few houses and stones fell into the red box at the bottom of the slide. We also had to draw and write about what happened. Then we swapped groups. The class joined together and we talked about what we had been doing that morning and at 12.00 o'clock she sent us, group by group to wash our hands and get our lunches. And we ate our lunches in the little classroom. After our lunch we went and played outside to run off some of our energy.

Once we had played outside for about 15 minutes Jane called us in and we went into the little classroom to talk about what we were doing next. She said we would have to put on our wellies and coats as we were going to walk to the River Cam. So we put our stuff on, collected a clipboard, a sheet and a pencil and met Jane outside by the car park. We followed her until we came to the banks of the River Cam. On the sheet we had to draw what we could see of the river and had to add some extra things in. She took us onto the platform and gave our group leaders each one tape measure, which measured up to 30 metres, a bag of dog biscuits, 2 red flags and a timer. The reason we used these things was because we were going to do an experiment to see how fast the river was flowing. We put the two red flags five metres apart and threw in the dog biscuits one at a time. We threw three in the side of the river and three in the middle. Then we used the timer to time how long it took the dog biscuit to travel to the other red flag. We wrote down the results on the back of our sheets. Next Jane said that we were just going to have a little walk round the village so we did. We walked to the lock and had a look at that and walked back to the Centre, got all our bags together and said thank you to Jane. Then we went back to the cars that we came in and drove back to school. We arrived at school at about 2.50, just in time to say goodbye to Mrs Pinhey at her singing lesson, as she is leaving for a little while because she is having her second baby.

VILLAGE GARDENERS

Dr. Peter Grubb gave us a fascinating illustrated talk about the Devil's Ditch. He is a Cambridge University botanist who has a long association with the ditch, and is now chairman of its "Friends".

We had a brief history of the 7 mile, man-made chalk earthwork, which is post Roman — probably ninth century: a more detailed picture of its rare plants and insects; the different habitats, and then discussed the problems of its management that have arisen since the invasion of scrub and the last decades, sheep grazing.

The rare plants — Spotted Cats Ears, Lizard Orchids, Pulsatillas, Fleabanes, Bastard Toadflax, Purple Milk Vetch, Hawkweed, Oxtongues, Pyramidal Orchids, all happily co-exist with the different grasses, and the more common Bloody Cranesbill, Wild Thyme and Marjoram.

A careful regime of controlled burning was begun at the beginning of the 20th century, which benefits some plants and in its turn ensures that the species of insects (a lot of flies) and rare moths and butterflies— the Emperor moth and the Chalk Hill Blue Butterfly, to mention just two, have their habitat maintained..

The Scrub — Hawthorn, Dog and Gelder roses have “invaded” the Ditch and by increasing the fertility of the soil, have changed the balance of the other plants. The grazing has much reduced some species and eliminated others, with the notable exception of the Small Scabious, which is now more prolific.

So the botanists, ornithologists, archaeologists, and other conservationists don’t always agree on the best way forward, but with financial help from English Heritage, the “Friends” with their great and diverse depth of specialist knowledge and its many conservation volunteers continue to dedicate themselves to maintaining the uniqueness of what is clearly one of the County’s treasures.

Names for the trip to Kew on the 22nd May please, by the 30th April.

WI Notes

The speaker at the February meeting of the WEI was Dr. Koenig, a pharmacologist involved in scientific research to discover new drugs, using blood cells and nerve cells.

With the use of colour slides, she described all the herbs that can be used for medicinal purposes and how many ingredients in current medicines come from herbs. She warned that many plants are safe to take in small quantities, but can be toxic if taken in large amounts. For example, too much parsley can damage your liver. It is always advisable to inform your doctor if you are taking herbal remedies.

Dr. Koenig also warned that when there is a breakthrough and a new drug has been discovered for a certain illness, not all patients will benefit. Some bodies will reject it, so more research is necessary.

Next month is the Annual General Meeting followed by ‘entertainment’. What will that be, I wonder? 7.30pm on March 15th in the Village Hall.

Red Lion Crib Team

We’ve won the League!

After only three years of League Crib, we have managed to come out the winners.

Our first year, it was the WOODEN SPOON. But now we’ve managed to come out Champions. It would be nice if we could repeat the success next season.

STAINÉ HUNDRED

The February Meeting of the Staine Hundred was held in the Drama Studio at Bottisham Village College. Tom Mor stepped in at short notice as the original speaker was unable to come. He was the designer of the New World Tapestry, which tells the story of England's colonization attempts in America between 1583 and 1642 when the Civil War broke out. Tom Mor researched and worked on this enormous 267ft x 4ft tapestry for 25 years. 18 of the cartoon pictures deal with the wool industry, which was so important economically in East Anglia, starting in Lavenham with the rich clothier Thomas Spring, who in his will left £100 to each of the incumbents where he owned property — a total of 130 parishes!..

Another family much involved in the wool trade were the Winthrops who lived at Groton Hall in Suffolk. John Winthrop was auditor of Trinity College and twice a year he would spend 10 days on their accounts. His son John, who went to Trinity College, went on to become the 2nd Governor of Massachusetts. Tom Mor concentrated on the Cambridge connections and told us of a number of people who went to Cambridge University before going to America where they had a hand in shaping the New Country. The Tapestry is due to be moved to Bristol later this year where it will be housed in the original Temple Meads Station which is being opened to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of Isambard Kingdom Brunel. The pictures are clear and humorous as well as informative and so the tapestry will appeal to children and people of all ages. Maureen Rogers gave the Vote of Thanks.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday March 10th when Mrs Twigs Way will be talking about "John Loudon and the Histon Road". The Outing will be on Thursday June 10th to Belton House near Grantham, with a coffee stop at the famous George Hotel in Stamford.

COUNTY COUNCIL NOTES MID FEBRUARY 2004.

There is never a good time to summarize what is happening in the County Council. The movement of events is unceasing. For instance, I cannot give you a finished account of this year's budget debate because the final decision has been postponed to the end of February. The reason is that one Government minister (Clarke) is saying "you must give more money to schools" and another (Raynsford) is saying "you will be capped if you put up Council Tax by more than low single figures percentage". The council is saying we can only give schools all the money Clarke wants transferred if the Council Tax is increased by about 7/8%. Negotiations are continuing ...

As some of you know, the Council is consulting - and getting different answers. The majority, depending on which group you look to, is 8% or 6%. In my view, one of the saddest things is that the pensioners and those on lowest incomes clearly want the smallest increase, yet they are the people who are now or may be in the future, in need of the very services (mainly Social Services) that are likely to be cut if a low increase is finally chosen.

I have said before, and I will say it again, Council Tax is a bad tax that punishes the least able to afford it. It should be abolished or drastically changed. My answer to the question "what would you do?" is to raise it on Income Tax. I know it is easy to say and no doubt has its difficulties but we certainly need a radical change from an increasingly unfair imposition; maybe this is the incentive the Government needs to do something and not just criticise local councils who are trying to provide essential services in difficult times.

Another moving target, difficult to pin down at any moment is Climate Change. Most of us are aware of it but feel relatively powerless to do anything to avoid its unwelcome results. The County Council has a draft strategy prepared for Cambridgeshire following the Council signing the Nottingham Declaration on Climate Change in February 2002.

The strategy was designed to provide community leadership (we are the largest employer in Cambridgeshire) and to raise awareness; including tighter targets for reducing emissions from motor vehicles. This strategy will be updated by a member-led review on climate change which will make an interim report this summer. I serve on this small group carrying out this study, so I'll keep you informed as it develops. We are already aiming to improve energy saving and managing waste in schools and I expect we will push for all new Council buildings, including schools, to be built to low energy specifications.

James Fitch

As I'm sure James will report, the County Council has been instructed to increase its proposed budget for schools for 2004/05 by the Secretary of State for Education. If the County Council increases its share of the tax to do this, their budget might get capped by the Deputy Prime Minister. Secondly, the Police Authority is also considering setting a budget which might get capped. This could cause problems for East Cambs, as we send out the bills. If capping happens, East Cambs would end up having to rebill (at the capped authority's expense) probably in the early summer. This would slow down our collection rates with a direct reduction in interest earned. In any event, whichever authority nominally bears the cost of any rebilling, it will be the local council tax payer who pays.

The District Council's offices at 'The Grange' in Ely are really not adequate. There is too little space and there are so many different levels that it is difficult for anyone with mobility problems to get around the office. So we have started to look at ways of addressing these problems. Because the options involved buying or renting, it was decided last year to hold the discussions in confidential session. I felt this was wrong, and said so at the time, because I thought we should discuss the general principles in the open so that we could have wide public consultation.

At the Policy and Resources Committee in February, the 9 members of the committee discussed the conclusions of the review in open session. They agreed, by 5 votes to 4, to move the offices to rented offices on Lancaster Way Business Park, near Witchford and demolish the existing offices. I asked that the decision should be referred to full council and that there should be consultation with the public, staff and our partners, such as the parish councils, before the decision was made. Unfortunately this request was voted down by 5 votes to 4. So negotiations on the lease will be finalised and full council will be asked simply to consider the 'financial implications' before the lease is signed.

The decision was taken because the figures presented showed that the rental option was cheaper than staying in premises which we own, despite an annual rent of £430,000 increasing every 5 years. I believe the figures are misleading and that if corrected there is little financial difference between the two options in the first 5 years and that the rental option will cost at least £300,000 more each year after that than the option to stay put. I regret that 5 of my colleagues on the committee were in such a rush to push the council down this route when the business case made was so clearly inadequate and when there has been no public consultation.

Dear Friends,

As I write this letter my thoughts turn to March and to the season of Lent. Lent is always a special time for prayer, because we remember the 40 days that Jesus spent in the wilderness praying.

Pray? Why pray?

What can praying do?

Praying really changes things, arranges life anew.

It's good for your digestion, gives peaceful sleep at night

And fills the grayest, gloomiest day-with rays of glowing light.

Helen Steiner Rice

Jesus put a great deal of importance upon prayer because it was the way that he communicated with His Father in Heaven. Prayer is a wonderful gift to us from God. As Billy Graham puts it: 'Prayer is the rope that pulls God and man together. But it doesn't pull God down to us: it pulls us up to him.' Prayer is an act of faith, but prayer also encourages faith. Yet all of us find it difficult to pray at times.

Leslie Weatherhead tells the story of an old Scot who was quite ill, and the family called for their minister. As he entered the sick room and sat down, he noticed another chair on the opposite side of the bed, a chair which had also been drawn close. The pastor said, "Well, Donald, I see I'm not your first visitor for the day."

The old man looked up, was puzzled for a moment, then recognized from the nod of the head that the pastor had noticed the empty chair. "Well, Pastor, I'll tell you about that chair. Many years ago I found it quite difficult to pray, so one day I shared this problem with my pastor. He told me not to worry about kneeling or about placing myself in some pious posture. Instead, he said, 'Just sit down, put a chair opposite you, and imagine Jesus sitting in it, then talk with Him as you would a friend.'" The aged Scot then added, "I've been doing that ever since."

A short time later the daughter of the Scot telephoned the pastor. When he answered, she informed him that her father had died very suddenly and she was quite shaken for she had no idea death was so near. Then she continued, "I had just gone to lie down for an hour or two, for he seemed to be sleeping so comfortably. When I went back he was dead." Then she added thoughtfully, "Except now his hand was on the empty chair at the side of the bed. Isn't that strange?". The minister said, "No, it's not so strange. I understand."

Praying should be about us talking to God as a friend. Our Lent course this year is entitled 'Help us to Pray'. We are planning that it will be led in small groups with 5 weekly sessions starting week commencing 1st March. The emphasis of the course is on sharing our prayer experiences, learning new techniques, and encouraging each other to enrich and develop our prayer lives.

Why don't you consider joining us – if you would like to, simply contact me.
