

The Swaffham Crier

Volume XLVI Number 11 November 2022

Editorial

We got our buses back! See page 27 for the Stephensons Timetable, and all looks well EXCEPT they no longer go via Bottisham (see Letters) — Charlotte Cane, our District Councillor (also Letters) is going to see if there's anything to be done about that.

What a fine job the new (and the remaining old!) management committee are making of running the Village Hall. This month they have sent us a calendar of the Village Hall Classes that will be running in November, and we hope we can continue with this every month—from Art History to T'ai Chi and Tea—there's something for everyone!

Don't miss the delightful Fen Fable (p. 8) that appears in this issue, or a hilarious newly discovered Chaucer Tale from Wulsin (p 16). Elsewhere in the magazine you'll see they are calling for more volunteers to look after St Mary's — never has housework been more fun! It's a great way to get to know people or spend time with your friends, do think about it.

Meanwhile, that Heating Scheme! In the early days, we received letters from all over the village about pros and cons but now there is only one left standing (a nay-sayer) risking the magazine appearing to be campaigning against it. In fact, the Crier editors have always been strictly neutral (though we have ourselves signed up for the scheme and will be joining with possibly the leakiest house in the village) but we are not the Rupert Murdochs of Swaffham Prior! We see our job as encouraging debate and providing a platform where people can freely air their views. But in case this has meant things have got a bit one-sided, so we are now giving Maggie Pratt a heads up on what we are going to publish so she can add to the debate and

Letters to the Editors

Dear Editors.

Macmillan Coffee Morning

I just wanted to say an enormous thank you to everyone who donated in some way to the Macmillan Coffee Morning in Swaffham Prior on Friday 30th September as we have raised £883.25p! Thank you to everyone who baked or bought cakes, and contributed to the raffle, whether it was with a prize or buying some tickets. We also had donations from people who were unable to come on the day, as well as those of you who could come.

We met new people who had recently moved to the village and, of course, had the friends who come every year! It wouldn't be any fun without you all and I'm very grateful that you came along and spent some money and supported such an important cause.

Thank you also to Margaret Joyce on the cake stall and my husband Robin who sells the raffle tickets. I couldn't manage it without you both. It became even more of a family affair with my younger son James, who came to help, and also my niece Yvonne who works for Macmillan. I think you're all getting to know her after a few years and she enjoys meeting you too.

I look forward to seeing you again next year, it will be my 30th year, and as usual it will be on the last Friday in September.

Ruth Scovil

P.S. The winner of the game 'Guess the Height of the Cake Tower' in the picture was Germaine who was exactly correct! The height was 94 cms. or 37ins. in old money! Well done Germaine!

Dear Editors,

BUSES SAVED....

I attach the published timetables for the 11 & 12 and buses around Newmarket. All will now be provided by Stephensons - Newmarket and Cambridge Services! - Stephensons (stephensonsofessex.com)

The number 11 will no longer go through Bottisham. I have written to the Mayor and Stephensons asking them to reconsider this. The AtoB1102 group have been talking with Stephensons and the local authority and have stressed the need for Bottisham to be on the number 11 route. They have also been reassured by Stephensons that apart from missing out Bottisham the number 11 will stop at all its current stops even if they are not shown on the timetable.

Charlotte Cane

Dear Editors,

....BUT STILL PROBLEMS

Well done! There is just one major concern. We live in Swaffham Prior but attend the Bottisham Medical Practice. I cannot see how we can get to the doctors without the Number 11.We are certainly far too old to walk to the surgery from Lode crossroads. Hoping this issue can be resolved.

Dear Editors,

Harvest Supper

The Harvest Supper, was a most enjoyable evening shared by about 70 people, in the village hall, after a two year gap. The hall was beautifully decorated, the food made by the committee was delicious and the entertainment by Tristan Latchford - choral music composed by him, made a very peaceful interlude. The company of course was excellent and we had our farming and confectionary skills tested in quizzes and enjoyed a very good, fair trade raffle.

Same again next year please.

Margaret Joyce

Dear Editors,

OUIZ NIGHT

Thank you to everyone who came to the village quiz on the 15th it was nice to see you all and we hope you enjoyed it. Congratulations to the winners, 5 Non Blondes, which was their first time at the quiz.

The North Remembers came a very close second, just two points in it so well done. We would like to give a big thank you to the ladies in the kitchen who also serve the food, Shirley, Janet, Maddie and Gerri.

Another big thank you goes to Andrew who was once again our quiz master and also to April for organising the raffle. Lots of tickets sold and the most money from the sale of those tickets so far.

We appreciate the prizes for the raffle and thank to all those who donated them. Our next quiz is on Saturday 25^{th} March 2023 so hope to see you all there.

We raised £350 for St. Mary's Church so thank you everyone.

Lynne and Jenny

Some Views on a Tumultuous Month

What a glorious early/mid October we are having in this part of the country. We are so lucky being close to Anglesey Abbey, able to walk both inside and outside those wonderful grounds and surrounds. The trees are fabulous with such a multitude of colours.

We are also witnessing a most interesting political experiment. The thoughts and policies of the Institute of Economic Affairs are being tried out for the very first time. Come on you history buffs - contradict me.

Usually known as the IEA ours must not be confused with that other IEA – the International Energy Authority which is also often quoted. Ours is the charity set up in 1955 with Right Wing Policies and a commitment to Neo-Liberalism, a Nineteenth Century idea advocating free-market capitalism as the controlling factor. These are the policies of Truss and Kwarteng and others. Tax to be cut for the rich, and income cut or the poor by about £1,000 through revising the rules for Universal Credit. Truss is convinced that giving money to the rich and increasing the poverty of the poor will lead to increased growth which in due course will help the poor. Explain that to children. When Kwarteng was told that the poor were facing increased fuel costs, food inflation, often rent increases etc, he said, with that gorgeous grin of his, that if they need extra money they will just have to go out and earn more. Rees-Mogg's views were made clear when he said "I believe in Nannies, but not in the Nanny State".

This IEA lot would have voted against all those 19th century factory and mines reform acts which prohibited the employment of girls and boys below the age of ten being employed in mines and factories for 12 hour days, and often whipped for falling asleep. They would have agreed with the mine and factory owners of the time who groaned that such Acts would lead to bankruptcies, economic downturn and prevent growth.

The reaction to the IEA growth strategy by the financial world was instant. But what will happen during the remaining days of the month? People had already lost faith in the integrity of the Tory Party/politicians with Boris never sitting at the same tea table as Truth. After the mini-budget people have now lost all faith in the competence of this government and party.

These comments were made up to the 13th October and go no further. I then expected to sit back and await the fireworks which were sure to come. But Truss was off the mark so fast on the 14th and lit the fuse by sacking poor Kwarteng.

So what can Tory MPs do to return some honour and credibility to their party. If sufficiently brave they should demand that the 22 Committee amend the party rules and make the Tory Membership no longer responsible for selecting the Prime Minister in a mid term change. Such a rule is even more democratically corrupt then the 18th Century Rotten Boroughs. Surely this must become the responsibility of MPs. Will they do this? T'would be easily done.

I now turn to other matters of local interest. The Queen's funeral appears to have thrown our PC into a little disarray. The usual September meeting was deferred until the end of the month with very little on the agenda. But it is essential for people to go onto the PC website and read some of the incoming emails which provide much needed and long waited information.

Read the 29th September and 10th October emails from the Swaffham Prior Heatworks. This is absolutely essential for those already signed up, or thinking of signing up. Progress is being made which will be reassuring. And we now have a more definite idea of the numbers actually signed up. At the end of May it was 65 and mid October it is 78. PLUS, and this is the Heatwork's coup, PLUS 50 Housing Association houses which are about to sign up. Inevitably the Associations could not resist the gift of £300,000 pounds to improve the insulation of their properties. Is this bribery? Now their houses will have solar panels, new windows and doors, improved cat-flaps, radiators installed, etc. This was quite an achievement to wheedle this extra money out of the government to push forward the scheme.

The worrying point is that if we put aside the 50 Housing association stock this would leave about 270 privately owned houses of which only 79 have signed up. What percentage is that?

The only gossip I have is that the Heating Scheme is no longer installing it's own solar panel supply but will take its electricity from that the solar panel farm at Burwell. The problem here is that the direct route of the pipes crosses farming land, and farmers object. In the meantime a diesel powered generator has been used for the electricity. Maybe it is now resolved.

The email of 10th October which is a summary (10 pages) of the A2B1102 Meetings should also be read as it concerns our bus service into Cambridge. I am not sure if we will have the same bus service as present, or whether it is to be scrapped. The latest information appears that we are losing our bus. This is a disaster for the village and could turn us into a backwater village. What do our A2B1102 experts suggest we do because this seems far more important that reducing Mill Hill to 30mph. Years ago an easy solution was offered at a large open meeting which would have instantly and very cheaply solved the Mill Hill problem. A quick scan through the old Criers will reveal all. Good hunting.

Alastair Everitt

We gave Heating Scheme Guru Maggie Pratt a sneak preview of Alastair's comments on the scheme, and she replies:

There is a lot of factually incorrect information here. The two housing associations are committed to have their 49 properties connected to the heat network and to clarify they are not receiving funding from the heat network scheme to install insultation upgrades or solar panels. The housing associations are signing up because they can see the value this scheme is to their residents and that they will be provided heat at a much lower cost than their current heating system.

There is grant funding available for insulation upgrades, but this is for owner occupied or privately rented properties. Interested residents with a gross household income below £34,500, or in receipt of means tested benefits, and with homes with Energy Performance Certificate ratings of D-G can contact Aran Insulation (0800 5877795, sales@araninsulation.co.uk, emails should be titled "5321—" then your property address) to express an interest.

The heat network energy centre is not run from a diesel generator, it is temporarily connected to the local electricity grid whilst the solar farm and its connections are completed. Visitors to the site will have seen the new substation on the right as you enter the site. It is expected that locally generated solar energy will be powering the energy centre from June 2023 when the other project is forecast to complete.

A Fen Fable

Long ago in the mists of time there was a village in the Fens that some Fen folk called Noah's Village. This was because the villagers did everything in twos. Although due the watery nature of the Fens it could have been the refuge of the survivors of the Great Flood. In fact large petrified logs are often found in the peat which could, possibly, be from a huge ship or raft.

Probably the Noah myth started, when in Saxon times, the unfortunate Thane of the village only had twin daughters as heirs. Oh the expense! As in those times a daughter had to have a church in her dowry. Now the Thane, or in modern parlance "Squire", decided the cheapest way out of potentially expensive outlay was to build another church on the same plot of land.

It was said that following this calamity the villagers felt that they would support the Thane by likewise doing everything in twos or multiples thereof.

Can you believe it that the jail had two cells, there were two chapels, two windmills and two drinking houses at the bottom of the steep hill. Some say they were called The Cock and The Bull but that is another story.

Apparently the village was divided into two parts – the Bottom End and the High End. The High End had a proper Street where all the rich folks lived (the name "High Street" was adopted by many other villages as they did not want to be left behind). The Street had lots of flares to light the way after dark. The Bottom End had none hence the saying "cast into outer darkness" as rule breakers were exiled there. It is said that one, a pamphleteer, was banished there for reporting the goings on of the ruling council, called the "High Arky", even though he was an "A" lister. The High Enders built an earthwork barrier to keep out the Bottoms as they lowered the tone of the High Street when they persisted in coming up to see the lights.

I wonder if there are any vestiges of that village that are still traceable or was it just a fairytale?

Noah Evens Thank you to Mike Phillips for this. Eds

Once again the time has come to remind anyone who considers themselves eligible for our Christmas Grant.

The majority of our applicants come from our pensioners, in particular those who have to manage on the state pension. If however you are in particular need or know of someone who may be in difficulty but are unlikely to apply on their own behalf, the Trustees will always be happy to consider requests for assistance.

Applications should be sent to me or to any Trustee and may I stress that assistance is available at all times not only at Christmas.

2022 Harvest Supper

A huge thank you to everyone involved in the very enjoyable Harvest Supper, once again back in the Village Hall after two years of takeaway events.

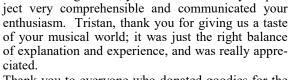

I wish I could pass on all the positive comments received, but instead record here some thank yous... and apologies to anyone omitted from the following.

There certainly was a feast! Thank you to Mandy for organising meat, potatoes and beetroot; to Annette for so much salad prep, and to Janet, Annette and Anne for the amazing puddings. There were very many compliments on the range, quality and quantity provided.

The hall looked wonderfully autumnal, and thanks are due to Fleur and her friend Kate for the concept and execution, and to Mark for help with the bunting. Thank you also to Emily and Tristan for being roped in to set up tables and chairs (and for technical assistance) and Charlotte too for helping lay tables.

Thank you Chris and Matthew for staffing the door and organising more raffle ticket sales, and Phil for delivering the takeaway orders. And Anne, thank you for running the bar – and for washing up all the glasses!

Thank you to our speakers for the evening. Mike, you made the churchyard pro-

Thank you to everyone who donated goodies for the Fair Trade hamper raffle. Proceeds from the raffle, together with bar takings, will support projects in our link diocese of Mara, Tanzania and we are delighted to send £350.

Particular thanks are due to all who helped clear up after the event – always the worst bit! The Clayton family and Goodfellow family were there with Mark, Mandy and Phil, Andrew and I until the bitter end – thank you for sticking it out!

Thank you to everyone who supported the event this year, which raised around £800 for building work at St Mary's. People are already Winter - What is the advice?

Keep warm – keep windows closed to keep the cold air out, eat hot meals and hot drinks. Wearing layers keeps you warmer than one thick jumper. Get exercise but ensure warm clothing is worn when outside. Hypothermia is a real risk in cold weather.

Help with heating costs – look into the cold weather payment https://www.gov.uk/cold-weather-payment

Vaccinations – keep up to date on flu vaccine, COVID boosters, shingles vaccine and pneumococcal vaccination – prevention is better than cure

Buy some "self help remedies"— paracetamol, disinfectant cream, rehydration salts/sachets, throat sweets, Lemsip can really help to have available for when you need it.

Getting help if you are unwell – pharmacists and 111 can provide help and advice as well as the GP surgery

What helps the GP? It can be really helpful to have your own thermometer, blood pressure machine and oxygen saturation probe as if you are unwell a more rapid assessment can be provided and you can monitor your improvement or deterioration on advice from the GP.

Look in on elderly neighbours – do they need extra help? Call AGE UK Age UK helpline on 0800 678 1602

Dispensary: Reminder that for repeat prescriptions there is still a 5 working day turn around so this does not include Saturdays and Sundays, which are non-working days. Please do not try and collect sooner.

Due to Brexit, COVID-19 and issues with sourcing raw materials there have been delays beyond our control in sourcing some drugs. This changes daily and the practice cannot predict from one day to the next what drugs may be out of stock. The local Clinical Commissioning Group provide regular updates regarding stock issues and the dispensary team work closely with the GPs to source suitable alternatives to ensure patients always have their medications. These supply issues are nationwide.

There is an excellent prescription delivery service, as we run this service 5 days per week (Monday to Friday) for the delivery of repeat medication. Please enquire at the surgery if you are interested in the service.

Winter at the Fen

The crisp, winter mornings are a real pleasure to experience at the Fen – you can always warm up in the Docky Hut Café with a hot drink and a delicious snack or treat afterwards. Look out for the return of hen harriers and short-eared owls to the reserve.

Hen harriers can often be seen towards dusk, gliding over Sedge Fen looking for a safe place to roost. Burwell Fen is a good place to go to see short-eared owls – again, late afternoon is a good time to see them when they hunt for small mammals. Our friendly Visitor Centre team can advise you on the most recent sightings.

Our winter woodland trail starts on Saturday 26 November; seasonal fun for all the family on Sedge Fen, normal admission applies. You can drop in anytime, no need to book.

St Mary's Volunteers Needed!

Our village attracts a lot of visitors, and rightly so: it is lovely. One of the main reasons people come, is to see the two churches in the same churchyard, (very unusual though not unique).

If you look in the visitors book in St Mary's you will see how widespread our visitors are: Australia, America Spain, to name but a few. Many comment on how beautiful St Mary's is. And we as churchgoers are very proud of this. However, we are few, and I have to say, many of us are ageing. But the church still needs looking after, not only for the present but for the future.

So we are looking for some more people who could give an hour or so every so often to help look after our building: opening/closing, cleaning and flower arranging. (We're not asking you to come to services - tho you're very welcome to do that too!)

If you are a dog walker, could you go on a rota to unlock and lock the church, as part of your daily routine walk? Not for ever, just for a week at a time? (Contact: Jan Pattinson 01638 743983)

Could you spare an hour every three months or so, to go on the cleaning rota? Nothing too arduous, vacuuming, dusting, cleaning the glass doors of finger prints? You could do it with a friend and make it a sociable time. (Contact: Kate Child 01638 743983)

Are you good with flowers? We always have a floral display in church with special displays at festive times, which again are very beautiful. Could you use your talent in a more public way? (Contact: Ruth Scovil 01638 743720)

If you think you could help in any of these ways please get in touch. We would be delighted to hear from you, and you would be doing your bit to keep a very beautiful asset to our village looking good for visitors.

Astonishing new research in the English Faculty of Cambridge University has uncovered a hitherto unknown second cycle of Tales by Geoffrey Chaucer, The West-minster Tales focused on a motley group of pilgrims bound for Westminster, ostensibly to worship at the shrine of Edward the Confessor.

Chaucer's envoi to the Prime Minister's Tale from The Prologue to The Westminster Tales

A premier there was with hair lyk hay And bulging suit with buttones givyng way For he wolde eaten cake and yette it keep -Him rated solemn promises but chepe. This premier of himself was gretly fond And was yelept proud Borys Roi-du-Monde. Of glotonnye and every mortal synne He was absolved for his election wynne. In lecherye he was an exponent -Of his offspring none knew the full extent. False witnesse had he maad his special strength, Whereto his nose grew every day in length. At Oxenford had he been in his yowthe Where he had lernéd manners much uncowthe And slothfulnesse in club of Bullingdonne With premier schoolfellows from Etonne. Ful coveytous he was of furnishings At Number Ten and rich and costly things He got with others' gold and on the wall Hung paper of the finest in Whitehall. For Muscovites, his wrath could scarce be told Excepting those who cross'd his palm with gold. His fellowes knew each pledge nat worth a toord And atte the last they hev'd him over-boord.

The Bookclub reads:

Gorsky

by Vesna Goldsworthy

October's book was the second book that we have read by Vesna Goldsworthy. The first was Monsieur Ka. Gorsky is her first novel and has been described as a new take on The Great Gatsby. There were mixed reviews amongst the Book Club members. Some felt that they could not grasp the characterisations; others enjoyed the descriptions of London.

The publisher's synopsis (Random House Vintage Classics):

'London dances to the tune of Gorsky's billions. The most enigmatic of oligarchs, Gorsky desires and gets the best of everything and now he has his sights set on Natalia. That she is already married is an inconvenient detail.

Nick works in a shabby-chic bookshop. When Gorsky approaches him with the commission of a lifetime, Nick suddenly gains access to the world of the wealthy and the beautiful. But this privilege comes at a price and Nick finds his new life suddenly fraught with danger...'

For November we will be reading The Promise by Damon Galgut and for December A Far Cry from Kensington by Muriel Spark

Solution to crossword no. 199

We congratulate Robert Nunn, the winner of last month's competition, who will receive his prize certificate from the editors. An honourable mention goes to Trish Whitehead.

The Swaffhams' WI

Shirley Scotcher, Director of Fundraising for Deaf/Blind UK, gave us an inspirational talk about the charity and her work. She not only told us about the housing project where she is based in Peterborough, for the Deaf/Blind, but took us into their world.

Being deaf and blind doesn't necessarily mean you live in a black, silent world, but in one where communication is hugely difficult- vision is massively blurred or tunnelled and hearing is muffled and indistinct. We tried on glasses replicating severe eye diseases and were muffed and blindfolded and asked to count money and choose a nice tin of something to go on toast. Impossible to be in any sense accurate. We were however, spared the task of making jam sandwiches- a task for a more intrepid audience!

It was clear that the volunteers, could transform the lives of lonely, isolated and sad people, in to being fulfilled, involved members of their community- by listening, becoming firm friends, enabling, supporting, and encouraging them. Being there.

There are sadly an increasing number of small children, who having survived being born prematurely, sustain sensory nerve damage and develop hearing and visual problems. Support, both pre-school and during education, being vital.

The tales were all memorable, but the one that stuck out- the ex marine, blinded and deafened in combat, found sitting on his assailant outside a bank, where he'd been the 'victim' of a mugging!

Oh- and a postscript- we all knew that blind people have white sticks, but none of us knew that deaf/ blind folk have red and white sticks- their guide dogs too, have red and white harnesses.

Our next meeting will be on November 21st, when Brenda Doe, will be talking about Fen Life and presenting us with one of her extremely challenging quizzes.

Margaret Joyce

Mothers' Union

Our meeting held on 15th September reflected on the recent death of HM The Queen. Patron of The Mother's Union. It was also the 90th birthday of member Enid Bucket and members sang 'Happy Birthday' to her. A vote of thanks was expressed to Jill Jenyns and Julie Sale for providing afternoon tea and venue respectively for our summer tea in August.

Guest speaker was Elizabeth (Liz) Caswell, who gave a very interesting talk about her United Reformed Church ministry. Starting with a brief history of the United Reform Churches. This was a coming together of Congregational and Presbyterian Churches on 5th October in 1972, making this their 50th anniversary year. Liz was ordained in 1973, so has always been a United Reform Minister. As a Minister, you have a number of roles e.g., chaplain in a hospital or the Services. All ministers are the same, there's no hierarchy as in other churches. Liz has been a Moderator for 11 years and was Moderator of the General Assembly presiding at Assembly meetings and other meetings and events around the UK. URC Ministers wear "what they like" and Liz didn't wear a "dog collar" until she went to Kenya. When Liz became Moderator, her husband had a new Stole made for her. Liz had brought this Stole with her and explained that the design demonstrated her belief that we "Walk by Faith" following the Bible but also that we need symbols/items to see. Liz explained that the symbols on her Stole represented events throughout the Church's life. A manger (birth), a cross (crucifixion), an open tomb (resurrection), flames (Holy Spirit), wolf, cow, bear, lamb, all mentioned in the Bible plus a dog and rabbit. The Stole is exquisitely hand embroidered and there are companies that make (embroider) Ecclesiastical items, Stoles, Altar clothes etc. At the end of her talk Liz answered questions from the audience.

Our meetings usually take place on the third Thursday of the month, at 2.30pm in Lode Church. Hazel Williams, Ely Mothers' Union Diocesan President, will be joining us as our guest speaker on 17th November. You are most welcome to join us.

VILLAGE GARDENERS

We had our AGM on Tuesday 18th October. The business side was presented by our Chairman, David Whitehead, with a financial report, details of future speakers and finished with thanks for various committee members.

Thereafter followed a very convivial evening. Margaret Joyce had listed 20 local or nationally well known National Trust gardens. Bob Nunn worked out cryptic clues for them and Robin Scovil created anagrams of each garden. They were challenging but with the help of some alcoholic refreshments and nibbles it made a fun evening! We were all able to complete it, some more successfully than others!

We were particularly pleased to welcome two new members, an added bonus.

Our next meeting is on Tuesday 15th November when Helen Ackroyd will be talking on the History of Anglesey Abbey. It is in the Village Hall and starts at 8.00pm. All are most welcome, regulars and new members alike. We look forward to seeing you.

From our District Councillors Charlotte Cane &

Buses have been the main talking point for residents and politicians alike, since Stagecoach announced that despite taking Government money to sustain local bus routes still affected by the Covid passenger downturn, they were going to close large numbers of local routes anyway. These include the 11 & 12 services. With these services due to close on 30 October (all the notice Stagecoach have to give) the Mayor's Combined Authority—which is the public transport authority for Cambridgeshire & Peterborough—has launched a procurement with £1.7 million on offer to fill as many of the gaps as possible from the date on which Stagecoach leaves them until the end of March 2023. The Combined Authority Board will meet on Wednesday 19 October, when it will reach a decision on the outcome of the procurement. The County Council's Strategy and Resources Committee will meet on the 20 October where they can consider providing additional financial support if the Combined Authority's funding is insufficient. It is understood that there is a company who wants to run buses on the number 12 route, and we wait to see if a company has tendered for the number 11 route. Beyond March 2023, the Combined Authority will be making decisions on bus services as part of its annual budget and business planning process.

The actions of Stagecoach have shown that the current system—in place since the mid 1980s—where commercial operators compete for money-making routes, leaving local authorities to fund the loss-making but socially necessary routes, is unsustainable. So we hope the Combined Authority moves forward quickly with proposals to develop a reliable public transport network for Cambridgeshire. Ideally this would include franchising of bus routes, where profitable and unprofitable routes are bundled together to avoid the current cherry-picking.

On Monday 17 October the Greater Cambridge Partnership Board will launch the public consultation on its proposals for significant bus expansion over the next four years, paid for by a charge on driving in Cambridge from 2027. A set of exemptions, discounts, and refunds is also proposed in a number of circumstances. We will give details of the consultation in our next Newsletter, or you can check https://www.greatercambridge.org.uk/get-involved/consultations-on-consultcambs from Monday. The consultation closes on 23 December.

The cost-of-living crisis sees to get worse, rather than better. Gas and Electricity prices have been capped but we await details of the promised help for those of us on oil, lpg etc. Food prices keep going up and mortgages and rent are increasing. The County Council is collating information about the various sources of help for individuals and households struggling with the cost of living crisis. https://www.cambridgeshire.gov.uk/council/communities-localism/support-with-the-cost-of-living

We know not everyone has access to on-line information and recommend that they contact Newmarket Citizens' Advice Bureau (CAB) on 0808 278 7868, Cambridge CAB on 0808 278 7808 or East Cambs Housing and Community Advice Service on 01353 665555.

East Anglian Air Ambulance

In the July/August article, I mentioned that an important part of the 'lifesaving process' is often early application of CPR – cardiopulmonary resuscitation. EAAA is committed to continual training of crews, supporters and members of the public in this process. Whilst many, particularly members of our emergency services, will be familiar with this, others will be much less so, or have no knowledge at all.

Please take a few moments to acquaint yourself with the Casualty Assessment Procedure, namely:-

Danger – firstly ensure your own safety – be aware of any danger to yourself, the patient and any bystanders

Response – check the patient for a response – shake their shoulders and ask "are you alright?"

Airway – Open the airway and ensure it is clear. Place your hand on their forehead with other fingers under the chin and tilt back the head

Breathing – Check for normal breathing for 10 seconds. If they are not breathing call 999, 112 or send another to call and to bring a defibrillator if possible \mathbf{CPR} – start chest compressions and, if trained, combine with rescue breaths – 30 compressions 2 rescue breaths.

Hopefully, soon you will be joined by 'early responders' from the emergency services, including East Anglian Air Ambulance, who will take over responsibility to continue.

Wherever you are, it is always a good idea to ascertain where an accessible defibrillator is located – in your local community or away from home.

EAAA community mission is simple – we want to save more lives and minimise the impact of trauma and medical emergencies in the community.

To all who support our mission thank you and, to those yet so to do, there are many ways in which you might help – please get in touch – info@eaaa.org.uk

Together, we can save more lives.
